Upcoming Courses

- Quality control and new guidelines in Molecular analysis and Biobanking, March 28th, 2019 Gothenburg

The course is given on March 28 by TATAA Biocenter within the framework of the European Initiative SPIDIA, which prepares guidelines for molecular analysis, methods for quality assurance and keeps courses on these.

This course will be held in connection with the Biobanking Conference and offers you the possibility to attend an applied course within quality assurance of samples and flows at biobanking and current and future ISO guidelines.

The course is aimed at researchers, doctoral students, Biobank staff, biomedical analysts and laboratory technicians and other personnel who manage and analyse biological samples. The course is also suitable for business managers and quality managers who want to learn more about upcoming guidelines and standards.
